

Erin McGill

AUTHOR ILLUSTRATOR

(914) 582-1199
wallcojr@gmail.com

Programs for Schools, libraries, and conferences. Erin McGill loves to share her art and writing with children and adults. All of her programs are interactive and fun. They can be tailored to meet your particular needs.

Book Bunnies Pre-K

Herb loves Hats, but just got Al's. A reading of I DO NOT LIKE AL'S HAT followed by a demonstration of making a collage. Students will decorate their own paper hats using collage techniques.

Reading Rabbits grades K-2

A reading of I DO NOT LIKE AL'S HAT followed by an interactive talk about Erin's process of creating her illustrations, from materials to how a picture tells a story. Students will then create their own illustration.

How to create a haberdashery grades 2-adult

How do you create a story? This workshop is all about process from start to finish. After reading I DO NOT LIKE AL'S HAT Erin will talk about everything from making a book dummy to how she creates her mixed media illustrations.

Skype talk All ages 25 minutes

Erin will read I DO NOT LIKE AL'S HAT followed by a Q&A

Rates

Skype: $75

NYC metro area

$500/day for two morning or two afternoon assemblies, plus signing

$800/day for a split day of two neighboring schools. Four assemblies (two programs each, plus two signings)

out of state

$800/day (plus airfare and/ or car rental and accommodations as required)

All programs are 50 minutes (except Skype)

Erin is happy to sign books after her presentation. Please be advised Erin does not sell her own books. Her books can be ordered in advance of her visit from online booksellers, local bookstores, or directly through her publishers.